A throwaway should be the ultimate in anonymity: one use, and you're gone. It should be the last thing you do before you start a new identity, the only thing you do that leaves a link for anyone to follow. Some public utilities, like water and sewer, may be a bit expensive, but they are the least of your worries. What do you worry about? Say, what was your greatest fear when you were 10 years old? Let's flip it around here, and instead of you, let's make a list of your current worries. Maybe they are justified, maybe they are not. But what do you do when you can't pay your bills? You'll need to know how SGI's security model works, and you'll need to know how to exploit that system. (But no, you won't need to know programming.) To get a good job at SGI, you'll have to pass the hiring process first. It involves a bit of a written test and an interview. We're pretty picky about the people that we hire.India 6d1f23a050
