The serial number is obtained directly from the ignition lock button or from the steering wheel lock button. If a button is missing or damaged, pull off the ignition lock button and look for the short, black connector cable. The ignition module, or ECM, will be. be at least partially correlated to spatial analysis of the tumor cells, where the cells have been divided into several clusters and subclusters [@pone.0069852-Giordano1]-- [@pone.0069852-Folino1]. The complexity in gene expression profiles of cells within the same tissue can be due to factors such as disease progression, sample acquisition, size of the sample, and even the patient's condition [@pone.0069852-Yoshihara1]. Such factors should be considered when we consider our data. In addition, the current study only analyzed gene expression at the transcriptional level and did not consider post-transcriptional modifications, alternative splicing, methylation and chromosome re-arrangement [@pone.0069852-Marino1]-- [@pone.0069852-Ono1], all of which may play an important role in modulating transcriptional output. In conclusion, the current study has found a correlation between CEN20 gene expression and DNA copy number of chromosome 20 in HCC. These findings suggest that chromosome 20 may be more frequently amplified than previously reported. In addition, the presented data show a consistent behavior between CEN20 DNA copy number and gene expression of CEN20 in HCC. This suggests an association between CEN20 duplication and corresponding overexpression of CEN20 genes. Taken together, it seems that CEN20 gene expression may be regulated by CEN20 amplification and that high expression of CEN20 may contribute to the aggressive nature of HCC.
